

Smart about salt

It's winter and your number one responsibility is keeping walkways and parking lots clear of ice. You reach for what's worked in the past – salt. But did you know that salt isn't good for everything. When the snow melts, excessive salt can absorb into the ground – and into our drinking water.

You can make a difference. Ask about the Smart About Salt™ program. Learn about best management practices so salt is only used when and where it's needed. If you work with a contractor, make sure they are Smart About Salt Certified.
